Hi-fi and home cinema, streaming and 3D: it's all here

All roads will once more lead north, for The Manchester Home Entertainment Show 2011. Taking place at the Renaissance Hotel on the weekend of 22nd/23rd October, the show will be the place to see the home cinema and hi-fi industry showing off all its latest and greatest products.

As well as the chance to see new kit, there will be competitions, giveaways and deals from brands and retailers at the show. As well as the likes of Arcam, Bowers and Wilkins, Cyrus, Onkyo, Panasonic and Samsung, it's your chance to talk to the What Hi-Fi? Sound and Vision team and see all our newly announced, 2011

Award-winning kit. We'll be showing off an impressive demo of the latest tech, and we'll be ready and willing to answer all your home entertainment-related questions.

Book tickets in advance to get a 10% discount and entry in the competition

The Manchester Show is the second largest show of this type in the UK. In its 13th year, the show is for the first time selling tickets in advance - and those who buy them will receive a 10 per cent discount off the door price. But there's even better news if you're a student: see panel (below right) for full ticket information.

As well as the chance to see and hear some of the most exciting kit around, retailers are also on hand to offer deals and discounts on a range of hi-fi and home cinema products. And if you can't be tempted to put your hand in your pocket, then there's always our competition...

The show is easy to get to by car, train or air. The Hotel has huge, 25-square-metre rooms for audio and video demos. Go to whathifi.com for the latest news on exhibitors, or head to www.manchestershow.co.uk to book tickets.
